Major Sandra's Column

Today we celebrate the gift of new life!

Those of you who are parents will be well aware that when a baby comes along, life is never the same again. The arrival of a baby calls for changes to be made to family life.
There is a new person to consider, new priorities in life. There is a new eagerness to listen and there is a new talking point. Finally, there is a new love, for the baby.

Martin Luther said: "The family is the school of love". It is in our family environment where we learn to love each other. A child that is not loved, cannot love others.

So we have two things to thank God for this morning, the gift of new life and the love which God has for each one of us.
